Minneapolis, MN, 5/12/22 – MN "double-barreled" candidate Bob "Again" Carney Jr. ("bobagain") heads Friday for the Rochester MN Republican Convention, held at Rochester's Mayo Civic Center, where he expects to be standing outside or in the skyway with a sandwich board sign, a video camera, and information to pass out. He is actively recruiting a Lt. Gov. running mate and launching a primary challenge – any prospect for an un-disclosed "other option" is fading fast in a very fluid political situation. His First District U.S. House special election primary campaign continues.

While bobagain has a 20-minute convention speech prepared, "I'm cancelled and don't expect to be able to give it" he said, and added: "Due to my conviction that Donald Trump must be confronted by Republican office holders and candidates I believe I've been 'cancelled' by the State Party to the extent that my continued effort to participate in the Convention's endorsing process is at this point a protest."

The campaign's website, www.votebobagain.com, now features a 34-minute "videoized" version of bobagain's Convention speech – it's an unusual mishmash of the speech text together with video excerpts from "Servant of the People," Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky's 2015 hit TV series. A major theme of both the text-only Convention Speech and the "videoized" version is exploring the striking similarities of the celebrity-to-politician career paths followed by both Trump and Zelensky. "The "new reality" we are presented with; War in Ukraine – simply took over the speech," bobagain acknowledged, adding: "this brings Russia's successful 'Regime Change In America' in to sharper focus; action to reverse that 'Regime Change' must be America's highest priority; the first step is to ensure Trump cannot legally appear on America's 2024 Presidential ballot." A second "videoized" version of the major positive elements of bobagain's campaign for Governor is being prepared.
